Jeanne: Thanks for forwarding this – it looks like a great panel and there will certainly be a lot to talk about! For my credits, if I could ask that the reference to teaching at NYU Law be deleted – while I've done a guest lecture at NY Law School, I'm not on the adjunct faculty of NYU Law School. The revised credit would be: Eric Schaaf, Esq.; Regional Counsel, EPA Region 2; Adjunct Professor, Fordham Law School. Thanks!

Changes in Clean Energy Federal Policy: The first 100 (almost) days of the Biden Administration

In the first three months since President Biden took office, the federal policy towards solar, wind and other renewable energy sources has drastically changed. Executive Orders, new legislation, and policy statements have launched the expansion of renewable resources on the federal level. With the flurry of activity in the past ninety days, it's easy to get blown away. This panel will shine some sunlight on the most important developments in federal renewable energy policy.
